Gold Winner

Population Health Management

Portsmouth, N.H. – March 30, 2020

The Health Value Awards presented by Validation Institute was held virtually today and recognized healthcare leaders and innovative vendors across the country. Now in its third year, the Health Value Awards continues to recognize outstanding services, products, and programs across 30+ categories spanning the healthcare industry.

“Now, more than ever, we are seeing the importance and strength and dedication of healthcare workers in our country. While we were not able to celebrate our finalists in person, we feel it was important to host this event virtually, celebrate these leaders and all they do for the industry,” said RD Whitney, CEO of Validation Institute.

Health Value Award candidates complete a lengthy and rigorous application process, particularly those nominated in a peer review category who participate in an in-depth evaluation to ensure the accuracy of performance claims.

This year US HealthCenter was awarded the highest honors as the Gold winner in the peer reviewed category of Population Health Management with it's PredictiMed™ Platform. There were 97 applicants with 67 finalists in the 30+ different health and benefit categories.

“We are extremely proud to have this peer reviewed recognition again for the second year in a row.” said Gavin Quinnies, CEO of US HealthCenter. “Our team’s commitment to managing and preventing disease is illustrated by
